Idea to a Comenius-project:

HS Ehrenhausen, secondary school in Styria/Austria

Title: “School and education in 21st century”

Motivation and background:

School development is a need and must for every school and it is demanded by school authorities.
But this seems to be too less because in the last time headlines about schools, contents of subjects, subjects, integration, repeating classes, school holidays, the work of teachers, the schoolsysteme itself and many more things concerning schools become more and more.
Beside this reason we see that the problems in society become bigger and more and more, parents become more selfconfident, people demand their rights, but on the other hand they forget their duties, morals and ethics disappear in each group of society, egoism increases, mental diseases explode, and obviously today’s school is not suitable for the solving of these problems – of course we cannot generalize, not each school, not each country is concerned in the same way. But together, building up a pool we can find out common problems, special problems, we can learn from each other and we can find out ways of solution. The slogans must be “Nobody is perfect”, “Together we are strong”, “You always can improve things”, “Resting is rusting” ...... And all the money given into the schoolsystemes is cheaper than the repairing of the damages of society (diseases, violence, ........)
